

ILM: For a career without limits

ILM professional leadership qualifications are the most widely recognised in the UK. Because we believe potential has no limits, we've worked hard to make sure your training supports you, whenever you decide to leave the Navy.

Prove there's no limit to your potential, with ILM

The world's best sailors deserve the best qualifications

ILM qualifications complement the training you receive during your Navy career. Apply for your qualification today – make sure your hard work serves you well, even when you leave the Navy.

Level

Level

4

You understand operational needs, organisational policies and procedures, and dynamics between people.

- A Managing Equality and Diversity in Organisations EDAC/EDAR
- C Leadership and Management LRLC

Level

5

Your solid understanding of leadership is complemented by performance management skills.

- C Leadership and Management SRLC
- C Leadership and Management Medics, Dentists & Chaplains Induction Course (CIC)
- C D Leadership and Management Res INT(O)
- D Leadership and Management INT(O), QARNNS

Level

7

Your critical thinking skills equip you for advanced and effective leadership.

- A Leadership and Management WOSC
- D Leadership and Management ICSC(M)

Award, Certificate or Diploma?

The qualifications available to you will depend on the level of training you complete. But each one is carefully developed to help you create a CV that will impress civilian employers.

- A Award is the most concise qualification
- C Certificate denotes a broad base of knowledge and skills
- D Diploma is the most comprehensive qualification, with an extensive programme of learning – typically a years' worth of learning

Choose the best qualification for your future career today, visit:

i-l-m.com/navy

ILM is dedicated to developing well-rounded leaders who will drive an organisation forward.

We recognise the value of military training and have mapped the content and assessments of CLM courses to fit our industry-leading qualifications. So, whether you are a junior leader or a senior officer, your civilian qualifications can grow alongside your military career, ready for when you leave. As part of the the City and Guilds of London Institute, ILM operates under a Royal Charter.

“Never underestimate your skills. Choosing an ILM qualification helps you get through the door with civilian employers, so you can show them what you’re really capable of.”

Peter Francis, former Major
Head of Leadership and Management Development for Laing O’Rourke plc.

ILM keeps your skills relevant

We're the UK's leading specialist provider of leadership, management and coaching qualifications.

We work closely with the Navy to offer qualifications that add value to the expertise you develop during your training.

These qualifications make your skills relevant to civilian employers, so that when you choose to leave the Forces, you'll have the benefit of the best qualifications around.

We're the industry leader

Like you, we recognise that there are no limits to your potential. That's why our qualifications are recognised by more employers than any of those provided by our competitors.

ILM helps keep you employable for life

Our qualifications are tailored to help you make the most of your training. They present the skills and abilities you gain during your naval training in a way that employers find relevant and valuable.

Over 1m people have already chosen ILM

By choosing ILM, you'll join the ranks of over one million people who've already discovered the value an ILM qualification adds to their CV.

ILM qualifications are as flexible as you are

Life after the Navy could take you anywhere. ILM qualifications are flexible enough to ensure you can always be prepared for what happens next.

Add value to your career today

Once you've completed your CLM training course, your ILM qualification will be automatically provided under the terms of a Central contract.

And if you prefer to have an ILM qualification rather than the ones previously supplied you can still claim them retrospectively - subject to meeting the eligibility as stated on our website.

Step 1.

Complete Navy training course

Once you've completed your training, you can choose a complementary ILM qualification that employers will really value. Make sure you set aside time after your training to start your application process.

Step 2.

Choose your ILM qualification

Visit i-l-m.com/navy to see the qualification that your course is accredited with and complete the relevant application form.

Step 3.

Submit your application to us

Send your application, along with your choice of payment method, to ILM at the address provided or online at armedforces@i-l-m.com. We'll do everything else for you.

Step 4.

Receive your qualification and certificate

Your qualification certificate will be sent to your chosen address. Once received, you'll be able to prove you're exceptional to any employer, wherever your career takes you.

“ILM really understand what we do and how our skills are relevant to the wider world of work. They offer a range of qualifications and the resources to take your learning further.”

Sarah Johns

Head of Education and Accreditation for the Royal Navy.

Choose the best qualifications for your future career today, visit:

i-l-m.com/navy